Character of Ownership and Size of Establishments.

In 1909 of the 640 establishments reported, 54.5 per cent were under corporate ownership, as compared with 648, or 50.5 per cent, in 1904. In 1909 the value of products of these establishments, $146,329.268, r-presented 96.1 per cent of the total, and in 1904, 94 cent. There was a decrease of 30 in the number of establishments reported under individual and firm ownership in 1909, as compared with 1904, and an increase of 22 in the number of corpora-

In 1909, 5.3 per cent of the establishments manufactured products valued at $1,000,000 or over, as against 4.2 per cent in 1904. These establishments re-ported 64.3 per cent of the total value of products in 1909 and 52.2 per cent in The small establishments-that is, those manufacturing products valued at less than $20,000-constituting 51.3 per cent of the total value of establish-value added by manufacture, from $98,-342 to $134,411. The average number of Sept. 15-22-29 wage earners per establishment shows the demand for agricultural implements an increase from 73.1 in 1904 to 79 in

Value of Principal Products.

In 1909 the aggregate value of the four principal groups of agricultural im-plements seeders and planters, imple-ments of cultivation, harvesting implements, and separators-was $94,524,494 as compared with $79,335,400 in 1904. an increase of 19.1 per cent during the 5-year period. The value reported for implements of cultivation shows an increase of $4,638,-070, or 15.2 per cent, between 1904 and 1909. Illinois was the leading state in the manufactum of this class of agricultural implements, reporting approxi-mately two-fifths of the total value of such implements at both censuses, while Indiana ranked second. Harvesting implements show an increase in value 83,705,696, or 12 per cent, between 1904 and 1909. Illinois reported 64.8 per cent of the total value in 1909, and New York, the second state, 17.2 per cent. The value reported for seeders and planters increased $2.45.4799, or 21.9 per cent, between 1904 and 1909, Illinois also reporting a larger proportion of the to-tal for this class than any other state (41.5 per cent in 1909), and Ohio ranking second. Seed separators show an inrease of $4,396,529, or 66.1 per cent, in value from 1904 to 1909, the leading state in 1909, reported 24.9 per cent of the total value.
